

DEMENTIA AND END-OF-LIFE CARE: CLINICAL RESPONSES AND INTERVENTIONS

DESCRIPTION:

People with a primary diagnosis of Alzheimer’s disease and other types of dementia are the fastest growing segment of the hospice population. This program will address strategies to help hospice and end-of-life clinicians understand the complex challenges that these diagnoses present at life’s end. Experts will share information about various types of dementia, their progressions, and how to support the emotional and logistical challenges faced by patients and families. The program will also stress the role of hospice and palliative care professionals in raising awareness about dementia.

PROGRAM DETAILS:

This presentation features experienced professionals offering their own expertise on the topic. On the screen, you will see the slide presentation and will be able to hear the experts talking and presenting. If you login for the live version of the program, you’ll also have the opportunity to email or text the experts’ questions that they will discuss and answer during the program’s Q & A session.

EXPERT PANELISTS:

André Cernasov, DO, joined Agrace in August 2024 and is board certified in both family medicine and hospice & palliative medicine. Prior to this role, he practiced inpatient and outpatient palliative medicine at Advocate Aurora Health from 2021 to 2024, where he also served as the Associate Program Director for the Aurora HPM Fellowship in Milwaukee, WI. Dr. Cernasov graduated from Johns Hopkins University and earned his medical degree from Touro College of Osteopathic Medicine in New York City. He is passionate about academics and is dedicated to educating learners of all backgrounds about hospice care, as well as ensuring that all patients maintain comfort and dignity when dealing with life-limiting illness.

Deanna Rymaszewski, MSW, APSW, APHSW-C, is the Clinical Educator – Social Worker for Agrace Hospice Care, a not-for-profit hospice based in Fitchburg, WI that serves South Central Wisconsin. She has a Bachelor's degree in Spanish, with an emphasis in Hispanic Health and Human Services, and a Master's in Social Work. She is currently enrolled in the Doctor of Social Work (DSW) program at Simmons University. She has had the opportunity to work with diverse populations in Milwaukee and Madison as well as surrounding areas. She has experience working with the elderly, physically disabled, and terminally ill and their grieving families. Deanna has worked as a Social Worker, Bereavement Coordinator and Volunteer Coordinator. In her current role, Deanna develops education on a wide range of end-of-life topics including advance directives, what to expect, dementia, grief, and bereavement. She presents to Agrace staff as well as the local community members and providers.
